

There's a reason simple, classic designs are simple and classic.

Stand back from a Bludworth.

What do you see?

Anything flashy? Exuberant? Ostentatious?

No?

Good. That's the idea.

The exterior of a Bludworth doesn't shout...

What these cues exude is quiet elegance.

Take the shape of the points. They're distinct. Confident. Clean.

And note the intricate inlays. Not too much, not too little.

Or the signature nickel silver rings – refined without being showy.

Bludworth Originals come from a long history of understated design and a tradition of restraint.

Of course, design is one thing. Execution is quite another.

So don't forget to check the level of fit and finish.

We didn't.
